CODE OF CONDUCT

Faculty Members

A person who decides to pursue teaching as a career is under obligation to act in a way that upholds the profession's goal. Additionally, the job calls for the teacher to have a calm, understanding, and communicative temperament as well as a friendly demeanor.

The faculty members of the college are expected to:

1. Respect the college's tradition of intellectual honesty and decency.
2. They conduct their personal lives with the appropriate respect for their work.
3. Observe all college authority announcements, rules, and regulations.
4. Respect the college's schedule and request permission from the authority for a leave of absence in advance.
5. Keep track of student attendance, make sure that syllabi are finished on time, and make sure that sessions, practical, and dissertations are done in a transparent manner.
6. For the benefit of the college, treat non-teaching employees as equal partners and continue to stay in touch with guardians as needed.

7. Respect the affiliating University's principles, goals, purposes, and traditions by abiding by all of its laws and regulations.
8. Engage in extracurricular, co-curricular, and community service activities.

Students

1. The college expects its students to follow its regulations and use its resources responsibly.
2. Must always act with decency in order to uphold the college's honour and integrity.
3. Are expected to maintain the college's cleanliness and protect the college's assets.
4. Must refrain from engaging in ragging or any other improper behaviour on college campuses.
5. To appear in both Internal and External examinations, a student must maintain a 75% attendance rate.
6. Students must arrive at college properly attired in uniform and decency maintained.
7. Students are required to be courteous both inside and outside of the College towards all staff members, teaching and non-teaching, as well as towards their fellow students. Students are not allowed to harm the institution's reputation through their actions or conduct.
